INTRODUCTION

Human Resource Development (HRD) theory is a framework for expanding human capital within an organization through the development of both the organization and the individual to achieve performance improvement. Adam Smith states that, "The capacities of individuals depend on their access to education". The same statement applies to organizations themselves, but it requires much broader field to cover both areas.

At the time of national emergency (1962) the scheme of compulsory National Cadet Corps (NCC) at the university level was introduced by the government. D S Kothari (1964-66) recommended that students at all stages of education should be associated with some form of social service. This was taken into account by then education minister during the conference in April 1967 and they recommended that at the university stage students could be permitted to join National Cadet Corps (NCC).

NATIONAL CADET CORPS (NCC)

The National Cadet Corps (NCC) came in to existence on 16 July 1948 under an act of parliament. Its Motto, 'Unity and discipline' has guided the NCC in its long standing effort to mould young volunteers in to discipline and responsible citizens of India.

National Cadet Corps (NCC) in India is the largest volunteer uniformed youth organization in the world at present. Many nations have emulated the Indian model successfully and have regular cadet exchange under the Youth Exchange Programme (YEP). Indeed the sight of proud and smartly turned out NCC cadets' marching past on Republic day in the Rajpath brings joy and pride to every Indian and reassures them the bright future and greatness of our nation. The aims of NCC laid out in 1988 have stood the test of time and continue to meet the requirements expected of it in the current socio-economic scenario of the country. The NCC aims at developing character, comradeship, discipline, secular outlook, the spirit of adventure and ideals of selfless service amongst young citizen. Further, it aims at creating a pool of organized, trained and motivated youth with leadership qualities in all walks of life, who will serve the nation regardless of which career they choose. Needless to say, the NCC also provides an environment conducive to motivate young Indians to join armed forces.

The current aims of the NCC emphasis on harnessing the youth in to potential leaders, patriotic citizen who are well motivated to opt for a career in the armed forces. Keeping the current aims in youth, the turning activities of the NCC have been clearly formulated in to 4 broad categories, namely, institutional training, social service, community development programmes and Youth Exchange Programme.

The aims of the NCC as approved by Ministry of defense are:

- To develop character, comradeship, discipline, leadership, secular outlook, spirit of adventure, sportsmanship and ideals of selfless service among the youth of the country.
- To create human resources of organized, trained and motivated youth, to provide leadership in every walks of life and always be available for the service of nation.
- To provide a suitable environment to motivate the youth to take up a career in the armed force.

OBJECTIVE OF THE STUDY

- To identify the personal skills required for a good human being
- To what extent NCC will promote personality development among the college level students.
- To evaluate the value addition possible through NCC.
- To examine the changes in the attitude of students by becoming the member of NCC.
- To examine the development of leadership quality among the member students.
- To examine the development of soft skill through NCC.

SCOPE OF THE STUDY

Over these years NCC has acquired an important role in the development of academic scenario of Kerala. NCC will promote personality development and good social conduct. This organization has very crucial objectives which is required for the overall development of individuals. This study will focus on the sustainability of these objectives and how far these organizations contributed towards the improvement of personal skills, moral values and social concern among the students.

SIGNIFANCE OF THE STUDY

Today NCC is the second largest organization in the world and the largest in India. It is one of the major second line defence force, which is known for imparting training in military aspects, it has now expanded its horizon and now aims at developing character qualities amongst cadets and making them in to good leaders of tomorrows as well as use full citizens so that they can take their appropriate place in whole walks of life in the service of the nation. Leaders help themselves and others to do the right things. They set direction, build an inspiring vision, and create something new. Leadership is about mapping out where you need to go to win as a team or an organization; and it is dynamic, exciting, and inspiring. Develop in youth the quality of character, courage, comradeship, discipline, secular outlook, and spirit of adventure, sportsmanship and the ideals of selfless service among the youth to make them useful citizens who can serve their country effectively and passionately. Organize, train and motivate youth, to provide leadership qualities in every sphere of life including the armed forces and to empower them in such a way that they are always ready to serve their nation.
